the most interesting play of the interthe country club yesterday. The matches

D. Taylor and Brines played the closest match of the day. The first two sets were in doubt until the last point was made, which won the game. In the third set Taylor forged ahead and won out with his steady play. with his steady play. Brines, however, showed great headwork in the strong defensive games played.

O. F. Salisbury, former intermountain champion, and one of the players who is a strong candidate for the finals, defeated Rodney T. Badger, one of the present intermountain doubles champoins. Badger has not been playing much single tennis this season, but in spite of this handleap put up a much stronger game than the score would indicate.

The schedule for today promises some good matches, especially in the men's doubles. Here the Salisbury brothers are to meet Garnett and McBroom, one of the strongest teams that could be brought against them. The old-time veterans, the Roberts brothers, are drawn against Neel and Whitney. It is believed that the winners of these two matches stand a good chance to meet in the finals. The results:
